Four Hundred Alumni Hear Farley Speak At Banquet

James A. Farley, former Post-Master General of the United States, addressed over four hundred members of the Loyola College Alumni Association at the Annual Banquet at the Emerson Hotel on March 30.

In his address, Farley warned of intellectual pride, said he did not believe that war was imminent and stressed the important part which politics has played in the development of America.

Father Talbot Speaks

Immediately before Farley spoke, the Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S. J., President of Loyola College, addressed the Alumni and gave a general report on the status quo and the activities of the College.

Former Judge of the Circuit Court McWilliams, '26, acting as Toastmaster, introduced Mayor D'Alesandro who gave Farley official greetings from the City of Baltimore.

Honors Lawyers

The Banquet was dedicated to the members of the Alumni who have entered the legal profession. About 75% of the lawyers who have been graduated from Loyola were present.

William J. O'Donnell, President of the Alumni Association, gave a detailed report of the lawyer Alumni and the various positions which they occupy.

Marelyn Postponed Until End Of May

Presentation of "Marelyn", the original satire on Maryland, has been postponed from the end of April to the 24th, 25th and 26th of May.

The show which will be student directed as well as acted will take place at the Cadoa. Robert S. Custer will portray the role of Yardley, the narrator of the show.

Others who will take prominent roles are Bill Mullikin, Dick Coleman and Cyril Keller.

Offer Sixteen Scholarships

The Loyola College Evening School offers four half-tuition scholarships each year. These scholarships are open to qualified men and women applicants, and are valued at six hundred and forty dollars each.

The continuation of the scholarships each year in college is contingent upon the maintenance of a satisfactory scholastic record.

No Time Limit

The Rev. John E. Wise, S. J., stated that applicants may take the examinations at any time. Those interested may check at the Evening School for additional information.

Applicants must pay the examination fee of ten dollars.

Sixteen To Be Given

In a period of four years, sixteen students will be attending the Evening School on half-scholarships. The scholarships are awarded to suitable applicants on the basis of their secondary school record and on the results of the scholarship examinations of the College Entrance Examination Board.

Students studying under the scholarships are eligible for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Hartman Named Chairman; Drive Extends Two Weeks

Chairman Richard A. Hartman announced today that the Student Chapel Drive Quota has been set at $10,000 by the Chapel Committee in conjunction with the Student Council.

The Drive will extend from Monday, April 26 until Friday, May 7 and will be officially closed at the Queen's Ball to be held at the Belvedere Hotel on the evening of May 7.

Daniels Heads Queen's Ball

Loyola's Chapel Drive will be terminated by the annual Queen's Ball, which will be sponsored by the Junior Sodality at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel on May 7, it was announced by Thomas Daniels. The Sodality has joined with the Chapel Committee to close the drive at the dance.

Johnny Moran's orchestra will provide the music for the affair which will be semi-formal. The Sodality Committee has vetoed cor-sages.

Daniels General Chairman

Thomas G. Daniels, prefect of the Junior Sodality, has been appointed general chairman of the dance committee. Our Lady of Evergreen will be the Queen of the Ball. She will have a Court of Honor consisting of four girls who will be chosen by a group of Georgetown Sodalists from pictures submitted before the dance.

Submission of the picture of a student's date and payment of the listing fee (fifty cents) ensure the enrollment of that girl as an aide to the Court of Honor.

Favors To Be Given

The dance committee is deciding upon suitable favors for the dance. Last year each girl received a Miraculous Medal and chain.

Tickets are available from Mr. Daniels, and members of the dance committee. Patron fees for the dance will be fifty cents.

A board of forty-two students has been appointed to comprise the five principal committees. They are the Publicity, the Printing, the Distribution, the Finance and the Meetings Committees.

Ten Dollars Per Man

All the students in the College will be contacted through their Class Presidents and their committees and will be given a set of blank receipts for subscriptions to the Chapel Drive.

Hartman has asked his committees to stress the idea that the Drive will be a success if every man in the College obtains ten dollars for the Fund.

Contribute Funds

The profits from the Queen's Ball and the Glee Club Concert will be contributed towards the proceeds of the Drive.

The April 23 issue of THE GREYHOUND will contain a four page Chapel Drive Supplement containing the full plans and outline of the Drive along with the names of the committee members working on the Drive itself.

Publicity Planned

The Chapel Drive Publicity Committee, under the chairmanship of Edward Clarke, will conduct an extensive campaign to familiarize the Student Body with the plans for the Chapel and the methods to conduct the campaign.

The Publicity Committee will design posters and lay out formats for leaflets and booklets. These will be submitted to the Printing Committee whose duty will be to have the work printed and posted by the Distribution Committee.

Debaters Gain Victories Over West Point And Navy

Loyola's Robert Bellarmine Debating Society last week defeated teams representing the United States Military Academy at West Point and the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Edward Clarke and Edward North represented Loyola against the Army at West Point, and Donald E. Fay and Francis X. Gallagher defeated Navy.

Win Over Georgetown

John Evelius and Edward North gained a victory over the Georgetown School of Foreign Service on Saturday, April 3. Both the Navy and the Georgetown debates took place at Loyola on the same afternoon.

Mr. St. Mary's gained a victory over Dudley Shoemaker and Eugene Welsh, representing Loyola on the former's campus.

Lose To St. Peter's

While on its New York Debating Tour, the Bellarmine Debating Society also met debating teams in New York representing Columbia and N. Y. U. These debates were participated in by Edward Clarke, Edward North, John Evelius and Allan Harris.

Their only defeat was sustained at the hands of the debaters from St. Peter's College in Jersey City. John Evelius and Allan Harris represented Loyola.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

Annual Communion Mass And Breakfast

The next Alumni activity on the year's calendar will be the Annual Communion Mass and Breakfast to be held at Evergreen on Sunday, April 18, 1948. This event, the most important in the Alumni year, should bring out a record number of members. Important in itself, the occasion this year takes on added importance with the guest speaker who will address the breakfast gathering.

This year the Alumni Association is honored by having as its guest speaker the Most Reverend Lawrence J. Shehan, D.D., Auxiliary to the Archbishop of Baltimore. Bishop Shehan has most graciously offered to speak to the Alumni. By a record attendance the Alumni have an opportunity to show their appreciation and at the same time hear an inspiring address by an outstanding orator and eminent churchman.

Mass will be celebrated in the College Chapel on the Evergreen Campus at 9 a.m. The celebrant of the Mass will be Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., President of the College and Faculty Representative to the Alumni Association. Arrangements have been made for the hearing of confessions from 8:30 to 9 a.m. Glee Club members will sing during the Mass and members of the Alumni Association will act as servers.

The breakfast following the Mass will be served by the Slater System in the Oak Room of the Library Building. Members are being reached by post-card and by contacts through class-captains besides notices in Alumni Doings. To assist the committee and its chairman, J. Joseph Curran, ex '26, please drop a post-card or call the Alumni Office NOW and make reservation for the breakfast. Reservations are $1.00, payable at the door.

Annual Alumni Dance

The idea of an Annual Alumni Dance inaugurated last year will be continued this year with the holding of the second annual gathering, this time in the Alumni Gymnasium at Evergreen instead of at a downtown hotel. The true collegiate atmosphere of the Evergreen Campus will make the dance a real Loyola affair. Held in connection with the "June Week" activities of this year's Commencement Exercises, the dance will take place on the evening of May 29 from 9 'til 1. Members of the Graduating Class will be guests of the Association on this occasion and give their informal introduction to the Alumni group.

Work on the contacting of Alumni members will begin after the Annual Mass and Communion Breakfast has been held. In the meantime, the Committee asks that you make note of the date, May 29, and plan to attend.

April Alumni Bills

The second billing for Alumni Dues takes place this month. If you have forgotten to mail your check to the Alumni Office, the second billing will serve as a reminder. Remember, to have an active Alumni Association we need active members. Become "active" by paying regular membership dues of $4.00. If you wish to share a larger burden of Alumni activity, become a Sustaining Member. Join the Committee of One Hundred by paying sustaining membership dues of $25.00. Remember, "It takes Active Alumni to make an Active Alumni Association."

Wedding Announcement

The Alumni Office recently received belated news of a wedding of an association member in Salzburg, Austria. The Alumnus is Lt. Col. John de V. Patrick who is at present Military Governor of Land Salzburg. Col. Patrick's bride is the former Dorothy von Szlankay-Burget of Salzburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burget. The bride's father was a major general in the Hungarian Army during the war. The wedding ceremony took place on Saturday, September 6, 1947, in St. Peter's Church, Salzburg, Austria.

Dean Announces '48 Scholarship Exams

The Office of the Dean of Studies announces that examinations for scholarships to Loyola College will be held at Evergreen on April 24 at 9:00 a.m. The scholarships are open to all high-school seniors who expect to graduate in June.

The examination will consist of a psychological aptitude test, an English composition test, and a general mathematics test. Applicants will be considered on the basis of marks made in these tests.

Ordinarily, five scholarships, valued at $560 each, are offered. Applicants, in addition to meeting the scholastic standards set by the College, must be approved by the Committee on Admission.

Committee Appointed

A five man committee has been appointed by the Student Council to handle all publicity for the forthcoming Student Body Elections on May 3.

The committee is headed by James Bailey. He is assisted by Edward Clarke, Austin Byrd, Winston Kourey and James O'Neill. It will be the duty of this committee to approve all posters before they are posted on the Boards.

All Bulletin Boards may be used except those which belong to the Dean and those which have been assigned to organizations in particular. All general bulletin boards may be used.

Meet The Faculty:

Brother Brennan Assumes Faculty Buyer's Post

Loyola has had a new addition to its staff in recent weeks in the person of Brother Paul J. Brennan, S.J., who has replaced Brother David Orr, S.J., in his capacity as Buyer for Evergreen Faculty House.

Brother Orr was transferred to Woodstock College as infirmarian to the Seminarians.

Familiar With Baltimore

Brother Brennan is well acquainted with Baltimore and the Jesuit institutions in the city since he served for a number of years on the staff of Loyola High School. While stationed there, he held a similar position and in performing it, became very close to both students and faculty.

Brother Brennan was born in Pleasant Mountain, Penna., in 1914. He attended Honesdale High and later the University of Scranton.

Was Member Of Aquinas

At the University, Brother Brennan was on the staff of the College paper, The Aquinas. He was also an active member of the dramatic society in high school.

After his novitiate at Wernersville, Brother Brennan served as Buyer for Blakefield, the University of Scranton and Gonzaga. He has been a member of the Society of Jesus for 14 years.

Students In Original Show

The Old Line Players of Baltimore, composed of students from nearly all of the Baltimore high schools and colleges, produced their second show of the season, Angel With The Angles. The original musical revue was written by a Loyola student, George Herman, who played and was, the Director.

Cyril Keller, Rodge Kines and Larry Davis, all Loyola students, rounded out the principal roles in the story of an "angel"—in the theatrical sense—who turns out to be an angel in the spiritual sense as well.

Dick Coleman sang two numbers in the production, and musical-comedy addict Bill Mullikin revived Sidewalks of New York with partner Don Brown.

Dave also did a comedy skit in the first-act "rehearsal" of the show. Joseph Parlett, William Mackey, Ed Barrett were other Loyola students and recent alumni who performed.

Highpoints of the musical numbers which were directed by ex-Loyola student Johnny Grimm, were Terry Thiele's warbling with a definite lift, Peg Pellen's sparkling dance routines—solo and with her own directed Rhythmettes, the chorus renditions of Battle Hymn of the Republic and a picnic production scene.

Brother Paul J. Brennan, S.J.

Evergreen Scenes

by Frank Gallagher

Toast Of The Week: We haven't all had the good fortune to be ladies; we have not all been generals, or poets or statesmen; but when the toast works down to babies, we stand on common ground—for we've all been babies!

Answer Of The Week: Finally, someone has come up with the origin of Loyola's colors, Green and Grey. The answer to this long-kept mystery was unfolded by the members of the Class of 1925 at the Alumni Banquet.

When the College was moved to Evergreen in 1921 it was thought that the old school colors, blue and gold, should be abandoned and left to the high school. "Father Phil Finnegan From The Far-Famed Philippines," as the students lovingly called the president, called a meeting and asked for student suggestions. After the students had said their say, he had his.

"I think that it would be only befitting that we choose green because of the name of the estate on which the College rests, Evergreen. Then since we are South of the Mason-Dixon line, or Southerners, it would seem that Grey would also be a proper color. Don't you think so?"

The students thought so and the official colors of Loyola College have been to this day—Green and Grey.

Man Of The Week: James Aloysius Farley, the man with the magnificent memory. When asked how many people he knew, he replied that it ran in the neighborhood of 100,000. Asked if there was any particular trick or system which he employed in remembering people's names, he said that he used no special device but always tried to get the person's name when first introduced.

Definition Of The Week: Formal Certitude—To be mistaken at the top of one's voice.

Honor Of The Week: Page 2 of the Notre Dame Columns makes three separate references to Loyola. One of the articles hints that N. D. M. heads the Loyola blacklist. This is not true. An informal poll showed that the members of THE GREYHOUND listed the following things on their blacklist before N. D. M. was even considered.

1. Telephones that won't work.
2. Hot beer.
3. Wild West Rodeos.
4. Canterbury Tales.
5. Rainy Sundays.

In all fairness, N. D. M. could not be considered before the above list. It was suggested that hot beer be replaced by N. D. M., but the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce objected too strenuously.

Switch Of The Week: The Science Department was besieged by an avalanche of applications for extra courses last week. Although College officials were unable to explain this sudden trend, it may tie in with the announcement that the proposed draft program would exempt those students majoring in science.

Students May Go; But Books Remain

A semi-official check by THE GREYHOUND last Sunday revealed that there were seventy-two stray textbooks scattered throughout the various parts of the cafeteria.

Eighteen of the books were resting precariously atop the heating pipes in the smaller section of the cafeteria. The other fifty-four were strewn above, across and below the tables and chairs.

Far in the lead was the text Rhetoric which evidently is the book least taken home. Running a not-so-contested second was the New Testament. In number three position on the Forget-It parade was Approach To Poetry.

There were several books which are not used in class at Loyola. Among them were Anna And The King of Siam, How To Live Alone And Like It, and Mother Wore Tights.

English Musicians Follow Example Of Caesar Petrillo

by Larry Davis

March 31 was the last day of broadcasting by members of the Dance Band Directors' Association for the British Broadcasting Corporation, so it would appear that musicians in other countries are beginning to imitate our Petrillo-led music makers in an attempt to gain proper recompense for their activities.

A look at their problems reveals that the British boys have even more cause for complaint than our own be-boppers and schmaltz peddlers. The BBC, the only broadcasting network in England, has for a long period of time had the policy of paying the leader of a band contracted to broadcast ten dollars per man regardless of experience or ability and forty dollars extra for the leader.

An example of this injustice to a leader is explained by Ted Heath, England's top bandleader, in an interview in "Down Beat." Ted says that in order to keep his high-paid soloists it is necessary to pay these men additional wages from his own

Chessmen Take Third Place In N.Y. Tournament

The Loyola Chess team took third place in the Jesuit College Chess Tournament which was held at Fordham University, New York, on March 29 and 30. Georgetown and Fordham tied for first place and will play off in the near future at Georgetown.

Other teams competing were Boston College, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia and St. Peter's of Jersey City. Since there was only time for three rounds, a variation of the Swiss system was chosen as the best means of determining the best team.

Defeat St. Joseph's

In the opening round, the Loyola chessmen met and defeated St. Joseph's by a score of 4-1. After drawing Boston College in the second round, Loyola was paired against Georgetown which was in first place with two wins. This match also resulted in a draw, 2½-2½. This left Loyola in third place with two points and Georgetown and Fordham tied with two and a half apiece.

Lalley High Scorer

High scorer for Loyola was Joseph Lalley who played on fourth board. He obtained two wins and a draw for two and a half points, while captain Tom Comber, Robert Bordley and James Bradley all had two points.

Arrangements are being made to play Fordham when the team comes down to play off with Georgetown. Another match has also been planned with the latter team. Georgetown is eager for revenge, having been unable to defeat Loyola in three previous matches this year.

In the Baltimore Chess League the local chessmen have taken two matches out of three to date. After losing to the Johns Hopkins School of Public Health by a 3-1 score, they went on to defeat Poly, 4-0, and the University of Baltimore by another 4-0 margin. Their next scheduled match is this evening against the Gallant Knights.

Military Training - Topic Of Jenkins Prize Debate

Loyola's top debaters will meet in the Jenkins Prize Debate which will be held in the College Library on May 5. The topic of the debate will be, "Resolved: That Selective Service and Universal Military Service should be adopted by the United States now."

The contest is an annual event at Evergreen. A gold medal is awarded to the speaker voted best by the board of judges.

Contestants Announced

The contestants who will take part in the debate have been announced by Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., Moderator of the Bellarmine Debating Society. They were selected on the following basis: 1.) their faithfulness and work in the Society; 2.) their forensic ability; 3.) their position as upperclassmen.

The speakers will be as follows: Lawrence Mooney, John Evelius, and Donald Fay will uphold the negative of the question in that order; Winston Kourey, Dudley Shoemaker and Francis Gallagher will similarly defend the affirmative.

Active In Society

All of the debaters chosen have been active in the society for some time and have played a major role in the forty debates that the organization held this year.

Their side in the debate and their respective positions in the line of debate were chosen by lot after the participants had been chosen.

Hebrew Tongue No Obstacle To Loyola

"Hosannah" and "Hallelujah" have become the rallying cries of more than a score of Loyola College students who are participating in the Passion Play at the Lyric Theatre.

Several of the more enterprising College thespians have been promoted to such positions as Apostles and Pharisees. Those who prefer to play more inconspicuous parts have been assigned to carry spears and swords.

Judges' Board Being Selected

The list of judges for the Evergreen Quarterly's writing contests will be announced in the next issue of THE GREYHOUND. The contest is open to all the students of the day school.

There is no limit to the number of words for the short stories but a three thousand word limit has been placed on the articles.

The equivalent of fifty dollars in prizes will be awarded to the entrants whose manuscripts merit either first or second place.

In connection with the creative writing which the magazine is attempting to further at Loyola College, a Creative Writing Seminar is being formed with the support of the Alpha Sigma Nu.

The tentative constitution has already been drawn up and an organization meeting is planned at which the constitution will be discussed.

It will be the aim of this group to procure prominent men and women in the field of letters to attend these weekly meetings and to lecture to the group.

The Critilog

by George Herman

When drama was first instituted or created or hatched or whatever drama was, a fundamental rule was simplicity in plot. One story, they reasoned, was sufficient to confuse and befuddle the audience for a length of time suitable for a play.

Then, along came another individual who decided to make things even more confused by instituting a sub-plot. This, for the past years, has proven its mettle. More people have returned home from the movies wondering just who killed who, why and was he caught or does crime pay after all?

Now, we have three (count them) plots! Take a horse story of a mare who gives birth to a racing foal, is rode to death, and thus, after giving the foal burro's milk, it turns out to not be a race horse after all; add it to a story of two convicts who kill two gold miners for their map and blame it on an innocent third person, and add a third plot and you have Relentless.

The third plot deals with two cowboy musclemen who rescue a man suspected of being a convict with the gold mine map, beat him, let him escape, follow him to the goldmine and then kill the man who was already there.

At times the plots become crossed and at the end of the picture you are aware that the killer of the gold miner is crossing the desert to his mine followed by the hero with his racing foal, followed by the two musclemen who are after the hero, followed by the sheriff and his posse, followed by the hero's girl friend.

The camera technique was wonderful. Several beautiful closeups of the burro and a man dying of a thirst are very well done. One scene in particular showing Robert Young being burned to death with a bullet in his shoulder is very interesting—if not downright terrifying.

Come to think of it, three plots not only makes a story interesting, but highly amusing. Now let me see, if Hamlet was combined with Maid In The Ozarks and Mother Wore Tights. . .

Dear Sir:

The basketball team takes this opportunity to give public expression to its feeling of gratitude for the loyal support given it during the past season. It thanks the entire student body, alumni and interested followers who, by their encouragement, aided the team immeasurably.

It wishes to pay special tribute to all those who displayed an active interest in the team—in particular, to those who followed the team on its trips, to those who contributed in any way to the demonstration upon our return from Kansas City, and finally to the group of men who tendered us the luncheon at the Stafford Hotel and so generously awarded us the handsome silver cups of which we are so proud.

We would also like to add a word of thanks to Father Arthur and Lefty for their generosity, cooperation and efforts throughout the year.

What's A "Prof"?

Howard Wilson of the Department of Economics of Loyola University of Chicago recently completed a nation wide essay survey among American college students to determine "what is the good college professor according to 1948 standards." It's a very interesting document to read.

Mr. Wilson lists no less than twenty-three norms which should be followed by the "good" professor if he wants to be up to date. As a whole they are very well thought out, but there are one or two among the twenty odd that should raise an eyebrow here or there.

According to Rule 2, for instance, he "should laugh with the class when they laugh at him." It's alright to have a class laugh with you, but we doubt very much whether a good teacher ever maneuvers himself into a position where the students laugh at him. Nor would we enjoy a professor who, as Rule 22 advocates, "moves freely about the room." A fifty minute pedagogical walkathon around Room 101 would be a severe strain on all concerned.

But Mr. Wilson does have some profound advice for teachers in his report. There is Rule 12, which advises him to recognize "that the students are taking four or five other courses and make assignments and demands with this in mind." Some teachers—even at Loyola—give unwarranted assignments to students already loaded down with theses, term papers and outside reading assignments.

Rule 8 states: "He treats the stu-

by J. Scrimger

The position of the Anglo-Irish novelist and short-story writer Elizabeth Bowen in the world of letters has been compared to that of the late Virginia Woolf. Oddly enough, she is not well known in this country, and only one of her novels, The Hotel, has had popular success here.

In 1938 Miss Bowen wrote the novel that so far has proved the Mount Everest of her work. This novel is The Death of Heart. It is not a sentimental novel; bereft of subtleties, the story is about a young girl, born of disgraced parents, who returns to her stepmother's home and experiences moment by moment the loss of fidelity. Like characters from Maeterlinck removed from their castles and mysterious atmosphere, they wander through modern London living a "daily life" and finding it shallow beyond endurance. Somerset Maugham speaks of it as her best novel, censurable only in that it is "vitiated by the untoward authority of Henry James." The conclusion of this novel could have been more complete. The author leaves the reader with the frequent question, "what then?"

Selections from Joining Charles, Look at All Those Roses, and Ivy Gripp'd the Steps are found in all important short-story anthologies. They are delicate stories; like the Japanese dwarfed trees, they have not been allowed to develop, but are still lovely to see. Yet they have produced such masterpieces as Reduced, Tears, Idle Tears, and Songs My Father Sang Me. She is an impressionist completely. Her stories are one of atmosphere. She interests and disturbs more than any Englishwoman who has written.

dent as his equal and should recognize that occasionally the student too can be right and can express ideas that are sound but different from those of the professor." Rule 20, in defining the good professor, says: "He does not dodge the students' questions. He answers them when they are asked and admits it if he does not know the answer."

The entire twenty-three points make interesting reading. Whatever the ultimate value of Mr. Wilson's report may be, it's available in THE GREYHOUND office for perusal by students—and by professors.

Sign Posting

In the face of a deluge of "See Tom Zeller" signs and inspired notices about nothing in particular, the Student Council, which controls the open bulletin boards on the campus, has decided to clamp down and police the boards at periodic intervals. The Council's five man committee on bulletin boards henceforth will pass on all signs to be posted.

The committee has set up a clearing center in THE GREYHOUND office to the left of the entrance. All presidents of activities or individuals who desire to post notices on the boards must submit their signs there together with a notation stating when they wish the notice posted and for how long a period.

Offenders who sneak to the boards and tack up hootleg signs will have done so in vain, since the committee—in their daily patrol—will immediately rip, tear and pull down all unauthorized signs. They will also take down signs whose time limit for posting has expired.

Letter From Japan

Dear Mr. Driscoll:

. . . There is an acute shortage of religious articles, both for use in church and for the use of the parishioners. Because of the scant number of Catholic people in Japan and because of the shortage and high prices, the prospect of any missionary receiving religious articles from Japanese people is remote. Most of the supplies formerly came from European missionaries, but now that Europe is in such a pitiful plight, reception of religious supplies is virtually cut off except for Catholics from America.

So I wonder if you would inquire among the student body of Loyola if anyone would donate some religious article—rosary, crucifix, medal, scapular, etc., to our fellow Catholics in Japan. It is a worthy cause and good chance for Catholic Action. I am sure that anything that the boys give will be wholeheartedly appreciated both by the missionaries here in Japan and by God.

Sincerely yours,

Otto C. Beyer, ex '48

avalanche of campaign posters expected, it will be pleasant not to have to thumb through layers of notices to see what's what on the campus. But we'll miss some of those pathetic little appeals for lost topcoats, missing books and tutoring rendezvous. There was real genius in a few of them.

Chapel Drive

The next issue of THE GREYHOUND will be one of those rarities at Evergreen, a twelve page issue. The added four pages will be devoted entirely to the Chapel Drive which will be sponsored by the student body at the end of the month.

Loyola needs several additional buildings—an addition to the gymnasium, an administration building and others—but its foremost need at the present time is certainly the proposed Chapel of Our Lady of Evergreen. Not only is there a spiritual need for this edifice, but there is a physical need as well.

The present student chapel located next to the Library Building is much too small to hold the increased student body. Even in later years when the flood of veterans has tapered off and the student enrollment is level again it will still be too small. So it cannot be said that those planning the chapel are building with delusions of grandeur. They're not.

There are those on the campus who have already doomed the campaign to failure before it starts. These professional cynics either criticize the goal to be reached or else express doubts as to whether the students will respond to the appeal or not.

We like to believe that these men are in the small minority and that the great majority of the student body, seriously realizing the need, will answer the appeal when the campaign opens. It is, in a way, one means of showing our gratitude to Father Talbot for the many things he has accomplished for the student body since he came to Loyola and to Loyola itself for all it had done for each of us.

We See By The Papers

"The Locket," starring Laraine Day, Robert Mitchum and Briau Aherne, will come to campus Sunday night. It is a psychological drama. When Laraine was a very little girl, her mother worked for a rich family. This family had a little daughter who gave Laraine a locket, which was her most cherished possession. The rich girl's mother saw it on Laraine and claimed she had stolen it from her house. This accusation changed the small girl's whole personality and she grew up to be a beautiful but hopelessly thought kleptomaniac. The Rhode Island State College "Beacon."

Was the accusation responsible for that Laraine-Lorraine split personality, too?

In basketball and badminton, however, Lois has had more experience. So far this year she has amassed points to lead the Notre Dame College hoopsters in scoring. The College of Notre Dame "Columns."

And just think how much lower the total would have been without that experience.

MOVIES

The Sign of the Ram is the sign on the HIPPODROME marquis this week. It features the return to the screen of Susan Peters, injured in a hunting accident two years ago.

Louella Parsons says that I Remember Mama, at the TOWN, is one of the most delightful pictures of the year, and that Irene Dunne is terrific in the starring role. Take her word for it, unless you think the fact that their daughter Harriet produced it influenced her decision.

Held over for another deserved week at the CENTURY is Mark Hellinger's gripping Naked City. Here's one of the few movies that get really close to life. If you're a Barry Fitzgerald fan, you have an added incentive.

Dennis Morgan and the new star Viveca Lindfors have the leading roles in the Warner Bros. hit To The Victor, which opens an engagement at the STANLEY tomorrow.

Having cleaned up on its premiere run, Paramount's Unconquered is now being shown at regular prices on KEITH'S screen. It's the old pioneer and Indian tale, with a dash of Paulette Goddard and Gary Cooper, some exceptional outdoor color photography and lots of Cecil B. DeMille's touch.

STAGE

Tonight and through April 14 at the LYRIC, Josef Meier and the Black Hills group will present the Passion Play. This particular troupe has played in the production hundreds of times, and last visited Baltimore about six years ago. Meier plays the Christus.

Netmen Defeat Kutztown Teachers And Seton Hall, Meet Catholic U.

With a pair of non-conference tests already in the record books, Vince Colimore sends his varsity tennis team against its initial Mason-Dixon Conference opponent of the season tomorrow afternoon on the home Evergreen courts. Catholic University is slated to match serves and base line slams with the Hounds tomorrow, as the home crew plays the first of its nine league get-togethers.

Kutztown Teachers, from Pennsylvania, and Seton Hall's Pirates from South Orange, N. J., have been the foes of the team to date, and Loyola gave indications of continuing the play that brought the M-D title to Evergreen a year back. Loyola defeated Kutztown, 7-2, and Seton Hall, 7-2.

The visitors from Pennsylvania were no match for Loyola, the Hounds sweeping five of the six singles matches and two of the three doubles tilts. Frank Scrivener, playing No. 1 man, had little trouble, while Jim Lacy continued his unbeaten win streak with a 6-0, 6-0 triumph.

Summary of the Kutztown match:

SINGLES

Scrivener, Loyola, defeated Pennypacker, 6-0, 6-2.
Laroque, Loyola, defeated Shilliday, 7-5, 6-3.
Lacy, Loyola, defeated Melesasky, 6-0, 6-0.
Nolan, Loyola, defeated Smith, 6-4, 6-1.
Thaler, Loyola, defeated Zweizig, 6-1, 6-4.
Handy, Kutztown, defeated Rahe, 6-2, 6-1.

DOUBLES

Scrivener and Thaler, Loyola, defeated Melesasky and Smith, 6-1, 6-1.
Zweizig and Handy, Kutztown, defeated Nolan and Monaghan, 6-2, 10-8.
In the Seton Hall match, held last Friday afternoon, Colimore's boys took five of the six singles matches, and two of the three doubles events.

The summary:

SINGLES

Scrivener, Loyola, defeated Cook, 6-1, 6-1.
Laroque, Loyola, defeated Cooke, 6-0, 6-0.

Running With The Hounds

General Outlook Bright In Five Spring Sports

By Don Fay, Sports Editor

This is the last chance we'll have to take a general, overall peek at the prospects of the five spring sports, since after this week-end they'll be in the thick of contention for Mason-Dixon laurels. So let's take a look at the teams, their rosters, their prospects, their outlooks, and their chances of putting Evergreen shipping tags on some of the league trophies that will be distributed after the base hits and relays and doubles events and what have you are all in the records.

The baseball team will have to be good to keep up the breakneck pace of twenty-two games it has arranged, but it appears after a quick consensus that Lefty Reitz's boys can handle the situation. It's been quite a while since so many outstanding diamond veterans have reassembled on the same team. Reitz has something like twenty back from the champ crew of 1947.

Pitching Strong

Pitching, that little department on which much stress will be placed because of the team's suicide schedule, may turn out to be the club's strongest individual unit. Provided Dick Farace's shoulder responds to treatment and the injury he received while playing intramural football leaves no damage whatsoever, the mound corps looks ready. Neill Cole and Bill Carroll, both starters in 1947, are poised when Reitz gives them the nod, and off their past records, should be consistent winners.

The overall look of the bingers is impressive. The same players, in general, are returning after a full year of college experience under their belts. That means a lot. We hope it means Loyola's second straight conference title in baseball in two years.

Using the first couple matches that Vince Colimore's tennis troupe has had as a gauge to its chances this season, we can be happy about the whole thing. A year ago, Colimore's collection of net talent defeated Kutztown Teachers' College in its opening match and proceeded to win fourteen of fifteen meets. Two weeks ago, the team opened the 1948 campaign by defeating the same Kutztown team. We don't intend to draw any conclusion from the above, except to point out that the boys look as though they expect to go on where they left off last season.

Veterans Boost Hopes

Frank Scrivener, Jerry Laroque, Jim Lacy, Gene Nolan and Joe Thaler are all reliable standbys who are making the singles section a most potent one. The team faces a stiff card of four Mason-Dixon matches in the next week and a half, starting tomorrow. Success in this quartet of tests is the mark the team is shooting for, since this would catapult it into contention from the start. A slip-up in one of these early meets may be the deciding factor in the eventual outcome of the M-D race. With such skilled holdovers as Colimore has at hand, however, chances are the opposing forces will have to be up to knock over the champs. But keep your fingers crossed.

It's difficult to judge what's in store for the golfers, since the team didn't inaugurate activity until yesterday. But from a standpoint of experience again, arguing that men who have won championships before can win them again, the team looks sound. Father Herlihy has a great interest in golf; that's evident from the establishment of the clinic for which he is responsible. He also likes winners in golf. And last year he molded a winner and a champ squad. Now he is going through the paces again. He has essentially the same men. Len Saltysiak. Tom Gisriel, Nemo Haslbeck and Bill Davis did the clubbing for Loyola twelve months ago, and did it well enough to cut themselves a piece of champ cake. Father Herlihy is hoping for more of the same dessert after this year's campaign is completed.

Look For Improvement

We'll have to wait a while before we make any decision about the track team. But one thing is sure. Bill McElroy and his boys are out to improve on the team's showing of last year, and the way the harriers are taking their practices seriously, limbering persistently and patiently for the season's opener on April 21, it's probable that 1948 will be more fruitable. The long list of runners and field event participants is too numerous for lengthy individual consideration, but George Brown is likely to be the team's pace setter. The two-mile event is Brown's dish, and he thrives on breaking records.

Despite the expected defeat at the hands of Hopkins last Saturday, the lacrosse picture is much brighter than at this time a year ago. It was reserve strength which beat the Hounds in that game; Loyola's first string battled valiantly and played the vaunted Jay starting ten to a stalemate for the opening minutes of each half. Bish Baker's gang never gave up despite the lopsided score, and it's our guess that things will be looking up a little later on.

Hopkins Wins 15-2 Tilt In Team's Season Opener

Complete coverage of the Loyola-Yale lacrosse game of Wednesday will be given in the next issue of THE GREYHOUND. The printing deadline made it impossible to include mention of it in today's edition.

Johns Hopkins, national intercollegiate lacrosse champions last season, inaugurated defense of its stick title with a 15-2 victory over Loyola's ten last Saturday on the Evergreen field.

Reserve strength was the telling tale in the season's opener for both teams, as Howdy Meyers' more polished second stringers hit the net in rapid succession after the first teams had battled on more even terms. Meyers, constantly sending in substitutes, wearied the Hound team with fresh men, and in the end, this proved to be the deciding factor.

Kimmel Scores

Ray Wittelsberger, Skip Barry and Frank Kimmel were the bright lights for Loyola's losing cause. Wittelsberger sparkled at his defense position, while Barry performed creditably in the goal, being responsible for 16 saves. Kimmel, a freshman, was outstanding on offense, and scored the Hounds' first goal of the tilt.

His goal came after Hopkins had assumed a lead and by halftime the score was 8-1. Ray Greene, Corky Shephard and Wilson Fewster accumulated most of these points. However, the visitors from Homewood did not pour in points until after ten minutes of action, as Bish Baker's charges battled the champs to a standstill. Although making the further penetration and attempting more thrusts, Hopkins was unable to score until after seven minutes.

Greene Scores Four

Greene, whose four goals made him high man on the total pole, slipped the sphere past Barry for the 1-0 lead, and before the Jays could tally again, seven minutes elapsed.

Linksmen Open Season Today Against Georgetown U. Away

Tom Gisriel

Len Saltysiak

TWO REASONS for Loyola's hopes for success in golf this year are Gisriel and Saltysiak, who performed for the champion team of last year.

Triumphant over Cornell University and Johns Hopkins in tune up matches, and after three weeks of rigid practice, the varsity golf aggregation gets down to more serious business this afternoon when it begins its official schedule against the Georgetown University team in Washington, D. C.

Newcomers John Bailey, Mel Beeler and Jack Cronin plus the four holdovers from the Mason-Dixon champ team of 1947, Len Saltysiak, Nemo Haslbeck, Tom Gisriel and Bill Davis, appear capable of turning the trick again.

Show Promise

The Rev. William Herlihy, S. J., the team's coach, has had his linksmen drilling during the past month, and will use the Mount Pleasant course for Loyola's home matches.

Cronin, Beeler and Bailey all displayed exceptional promise in the match with Cornell and Hopkins, in

Mueller Plans Extensive Spring Schedule; Track Meet Tops Events

TRACK MEET

"One of the most extensive intramural schedules to be tried at Loyola will be held this spring, and the big event we want to put across is the track meet to be run next week."

It was Franny Mueller, intramural director, talking about the mammoth card he has arranged to climax the year of inter-class activity.

Nine Events Planned

"One of the benefits we've been striving for is class interest and class spirit. I feel that this will be accomplished in the track meet we have planned, especially in the class one mile relay."

Mueller reveals that the meet will be open to all students not participating in any of the spring varsity sports. At least nine events have been lined up tentatively, with the aforementioned relay taking maximum interest.

The events will be: 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard dash, field events, shot put, running high jump, broad jump and the class relay over one mile.

Heats Next Week

Heats are to be run next week, beginning on Monday and continuing through Thursday. Bill McElroy and members of the varsity will handle the entries. All heats will be timed, and the performers with the best times will qualify for the finals. Finals will be held on Friday, April 16, during the two open morning periods. Medals will be awarded to first two places, and points will be given to each entrant toward the individual intramural trophy. Students should report to McElroy on the track any afternoon from Monday to Thursday of next week if they intend to compete.

SOFTBALL OFF, OTHER EVENTS PLANNED

Curtailment of intramural softball for the fourth quarter and the innovation of a number of other events during the spring were announced early this week by Franny Mueller.

Mueller reveals that softball will not be played by classes this year because of the heavy demands for Loyola's only athletic field during the afternoon, and the impossibility of the teams meeting earlier in the day because of the mixed lunch periods. However, there is a good chance that softball will be in vogue during the spring term.

New Events Listed

New events planned by Mueller include a swimming meet, track meet, doubles tennis tournament, golf tournament and a doubles horseshoe tournament.

Entries for the doubles tennis tourney can be obtained from Mueller in the athletic office or by filling out blanks on the Gym bulletin board today. One tennis court will be held in reserve for action in this tourney.

Swim Meet Details

The swimming meet will be held later on in the season. All students who are not members of spring varsity teams are eligible to participate. Students may enter any of the events they wish, and winners of the preliminary rounds will advance to the final heats, in which the champs will be decided.

Information on the golf tourney will be published in the next issue, inasmuch as Mueller has not completely outlined his plans.

The horseshoe tourney is tentative at this writing, but will be held if sufficient student interest warrants it.

Lind, Wittelsberger Star In Baseball, Lacrosse

by Mickey Parr

(This is another in a series of articles dealing with outstanding Loyola athletes.)

Three-sport athletes aren't rare, but they are listed among the unusual. So, we'll begin by calling Tommy Lind, Loyola basketball, soccer, and baseball player, an unusual athlete.

Tommy doesn't star in all three; however, when he steps back and takes a look at the proficiency that he has attained, he's satisfied. He's a reliable substitute for the basketball B squad, a steady regular on the soccer team, and an outstanding star on the baseball nine.

Hit .323

Now that spring is here, it's time for Lind to shine brightly. Last year, as a Freshman, he paced the Reitzmen to the Mason-Dixon Conference diamond championship with the team's highest swat mark, 323, and a superior fielding job at third base. His hitting output included five home runs, which figure also topped the rest of the team.

The current season should find Tommy once more in his familiar cleanup spot, knocking that high, hard one a country mile. Incidentally, the Highlandtown slugger keeps a sharp batting eye despite the handicap of wearing glasses. At the hot corner he fields with a smooth continuity of motion that makes even the hard raps look easy, and tops that with an accurate, rifle-like peg to first.

Made All-Maryland

During the summer of 1947, Tommy covorted at shortstop for Cowen of the Baltimore League, and the team took the Amateur Unlimited Class Championship of Maryland, with the Loyola lad sporting a .375 stick average.

Our baseball star divided his high school education between St. Charles College and Mt. St. Joseph. At St. Joe his work was outstanding enough to merit him All-Maryland Scholastic rating twice in soccer, and once in baseball.

Made Two Of Three Hits

Despite all the scores his big bat drove across the platter, the biggest hitting thrill Tommy experienced as a Greyhound last year was the game when Villanova shut out Loyola, 4 to 0. Our boys got only three hits off the tight hurling of Ronnie Smith, but two of those were a double and triple lashed out by Lind.

After he graduates, the Loyola dynamo of the diamond hopes to etch a trial in pro baseball, for which he certainly has good physical assets. He's 6 feet tall, weighs 175 pounds, and is only 21 years old.

Sports At A Glance

The varsity basketball team will play the University of Connecticut in a home-and-home series next year, according to Lefty Reitz . . . Johns Hopkins' basketball team selected Jim Lacy and Andy O'Donnell on its all-opponent cage team, based on their performances in games against the Jays . . . O'Donnell, Mike Zedalis, Frank Scrivener and other students played for the County Pivoters in a post-season tournament . . . Nick Kropfelder, Loyola soccer star last fall, led the Baltimore Americans of the American Soccer League in scoring this year . . . medals to be awarded the Don Semesky and Murray Carmody are making bids for the first base job in Loyola's starting infield . . . Don't be surprised if Jim Stephens breaks into the starting lineup somewhere . . . In two meets so far this spring, Jim Lacy's tennis record stands: 6-0, 6-0, 6-1 . . . Lacy was unbeaten in singles last year, and beaten only once in doubles.

Golfers Meet Georgetown U.

which the Evergreen squad defeated the Jays, 6-0, and the boys from Ithaca, N. Y., 3½-2½.

Play Bees, Explorers

Cronin and Beeler defeated both their opponents, while Bailey made a split, Haslbeck, Saltysiak and Davis also performed admirably, and gave indications of continuing the showing they made last season.

Following this afternoon's match with the Hoyas, the team is slated to meet the University of Baltimore away on April 19, and La Salle College of Philadelphia away on April 24.

Ray Wittelsberger

A humorous chuckle rolled out of the tightly packed crowd of lacrosse addicts in the stands at Homewood Field, as the loudspeakers bellowed the announcement of the lineup, "... and at defense for the South is Ruppertsberger, Wittelsberger, and Coffenberger."

This was the night of June 6, 1947, when the elite of the nation's skull creasing athletes gathered for the annual North-South all star spectacle in Baltimore.

Ray Wittelsberger, kingpin of Loyola's lacrosse defense, was the middle man in the trio mentioned above, and it is safe to say that the All-South honor was the high spot of Ray's stick career, thus far.

Class President

Off the field, you'd never take this solid, hard charging lacrosse man, who runs like an antelope, for anything but an affable, well-mannered gentleman. He's President of his class, his blonde hair is topped with a curly thatch at the front, and he has a mania for smoking oddly shaped pipes.

His superior stick play is a factor that emanates from a solid background of lacrosse schooling. At City College he played on the varsity for two years, was voted to the All-Maryland ten, and also given a spot on the all-star outfit which annually plays the champions of the schoolboy league.

Played Football

Ray picked up a few body checking pointers by clearing the path as City's football blocking back for two years, when the Collegians were the best in local prep pigskin circles.

In 1942, he and his father organized the Maryland Athletic Club team. With the senior Wittelsberger coaching, this crew of lads went through a nine game schedule with just one setback.

Worked For B. A. C.

The year before he started harassing enemy attackmen for Loyola (1946), the Greyhound defenseman worked under Howdy Meyers on the Baltimore Athletic Club team, which was good enough to beat Johns Hopkins at the Indian game, 8 to 5. A season later, Meyers was coaching Hopkins to the National Collegiate Championship.

When most lacrossers are through for the season, Wittelsberger is only half through. Each summer, he heads for Westchester, Pennsylvania, with Bobby Poole, Baltimore sportsman, who organizes a contingent for the toughest type of lacrosse known. It's called 'box lacrosse.'

Looks For Game's Spread

Ray is young yet, only 23, stands 5'9", but heists 170 pounds on his sturdy pins; which makes him ideal for this sport. There are only six men on a team, and the field, which measures 160 x 60 feet, is enclosed by a three foot wooden fence.

Loyola's ace declares it embodies all the viciousness of ice hockey, combined with all the attacking tactics of lacrosse. Ray says he'd like to see the game spread around Baltimore, . . . you know, like you'd spread your opponents against that three foot fence.

Practice With Olympic Club Set For Tomorrow

Although they will not taste collegiate competition until April 21 (they meet Hopkins that afternoon), Loyola's track hopefuls will get in a needed practice session tomorrow morning when the Baltimore Olympic Club invades Evergreen.

Bill McElroy's cinderkickers have been going about their work very seriously, pacing themselves well in order to be at peak performances when the rugged grind begins in about two weeks. For the last month, the athletic field has been the scene of dashes, relays, attempted high jumps, discus and javelin heaves and hurdles.

Wants To Better Record

McElroy declares the team, which includes nine major winners of last year, is intent on bettering the squad's record of 1-5 in 1947. The team has a more-rounded schedule this year, having added Hopkins and Westchester to its card. The Penn Relays and the Mason-Dixon Tournament are also booked besides the Hounds' dual meets.

Chief hope which McElroy fosters for individual titles is George Brown, one of the outstanding trackmen ever to compete at Loyola. A performer during the past two years on both the cross country and track aggregations, Brown holds forth in the two mile event.

Set Record

Brown set the only new track record of the spring season last year in the first meet of the season against American U. The slightly built runner was unbeaten throughout the campaign, but was topped in the M-D tourney by Bob Portmess of Hopkins.

Supplementing Brown, McElroy has a host of candidates who make the overall picture much brighter than a year ago. Jim Kaufman and John Paszek are a pair of half-milers who have shown the most promise. Hurdlers include Tom Maskell, Walt Smyth and Alan Tustin, while high jumping hopefuls consist of Tom Petr, Mike Mc-

George Brown

Neal and Vince Gallagher. Discus and shot putting are in the able hands of Bob Roesner and Jeep Mueller, while the innovation of pole vaulting has attracted Gerry Kimmitt and Lou Roche.

To Compete In Penn Relays

Among the sprinters, John Brunk has displayed real ability, the freshman being Loyola's top representative in the South Atlantic's competition last month. Others who are due for action are Charlie Kimmel, Jim Norris, Jim Fusting, Larry Atkinson and Buns Vidali.

Following the Hopkins meet on the twenty-first, the team will compete in the annual Penn Relays on April 23 and 24 in Philadelphia.

Golf Clinic Features Schloss

Beginning this morning and for the next four Friday mornings at 10:45 in the gym, the newly formed golf clinic will feature as the main speaker Irvin Schloss, pro golfer at the Mount Pleasant course.

In the first session last Friday, Andy Gibson, pro at the Country Club of Maryland, was the speaker. Gibson emphasized the correct grip, stance and swing.

Alumni Bowling

Standings of the Alumni Bowling League at the end of the first half of the second round follow. The class of '47 won the first round.

Hopkins Lacrosse

Fewster made the point this time, tallying a few seconds before the close of the first quarter.

Hopkins' reserve power began to take effect at this point, and the Meyers' machine whipped in six goals in the second period.

Scal Tallies

In the third session, Loyola was blanked, while the winners scored three. Jack Seal's last period goal for Loyola was the home force's only score, while the visitors made four.

Baker's gang takes on Maryland at College Park on April 17 in the team's next outing.

Baseball

Varsity Meets Cardinals, A. U. Eagles In M-D Tests

Loyola's baseball opener with Seton Hall on Tuesday went eleven innings before being called on account of darkness. The score was 4-4.

Having opened its Mason-Dixon Conference defense against Mount Saint Mary's yesterday, Loyola's varsity baseball nine is due more league action this week against Catholic University and American

Lefty Reitz

Four Out Of Four That's Reitz's Aim

You can't do better than an average of 1,000, and that's exactly Lefty Reitz's aim as he readies his varsity baseball team for the Mason-Dixon Conference race. Reitz's teams have won the varsity basketball title twice in the last two years. Meanwhile, his varsity baseballers of 1947 hauled away the M-D pennant. So he's out for more. Four out of four, or bust.

University. In fact, the Hounds will play C. U.'s Cards twice within eleven days.

The first meeting of the teams will go on tomorrow at the Evergreen diamond, while the second clash is booked for the Cards' home field in Washington on April 21. Meanwhile, American U.'s bat and ball boys will play host to Lefty Reitz's bingers next Friday afternoon, April 16.

Twenty-Two Games Carded

Taking advantage of the helpful weather of the past few weeks, Reitz has been sending his charges through stiff paces in preparation for the huge schedule which has been carded for them.

Although making no definite announcement, Reitz is expected to stand pat on the lineup which carried the Hounds through to the league title last year.

Lineup Named

This setup would have Harry Shock at first base, Jack Whalen at second, Tommy Lind at third and Jim Carmody at shortstop. Outfield duties likely would fall to Johnny Amer, Ben Spurrier and Johnny Boone. From the pitchers, Reitz can call on veterans Dick Farace, Bill Carroll and Neill Cole.

Mr. Iula Directs Spring Concert

The Loyola College Glee Club presented its spring concert before a representative audience of students and their friends at the Alcazar last night. The concert was under the direction of Mr. Felice Iula, chairman of the music department at the College.

A dance was held after the concert from ten until twelve. Bob Iula and his orchestra played at the dance.

Program Unusual

The choral club presented an unusual program of songs on the occasion. The selections ranged from Thanks Be To Thee to Dry Bones. The entire club took part in the affair and solo parts were handled by James H. Dietz, Niles E. Fields and Albert Fitzgerald.

Other selections were: Song of the Vagabonds, Kentucky Babe and A Little Close Harmony sung in the style of a barbershop quartet.

Ideas Entirely New

This was the first time that an entire concert has been conducted by the Glee Club in the history of the College.

The Very Reverend Francis X. Talbot, S.J., President of Loyola College, spoke very highly of the success of the affair and expressed the hope that many events would be held in the future.

Recent Campus Changes Listed

The Valley Landscaping Co. has been engaged in making several improvements on the campus during the past two weeks. Besides constructing the new pathway between the Library Building and the Dell, they have also been employed in landscaping work in the Dell and around the Faculty Building.

Improvements on the athletic field consist of a new surface on the track and new pits for track and field events.

Pits have been dug for constructions of baseball dugouts on the athletic field. A scoreboard has also been erected on the athletic field.

Badminton Team Reported Practicing In Evenings

Still smarting under the sting of its defeat at the hands of Notre Dame's Badminton Team, Loyola's Varsity Badminton Team is rumored to be making preparations for a return engagement.

Rumor has it that on three evenings a week a group of unidentified young men practice badminton at Evergreen by the light of the moon and a few sputtering candles.

Draws Denials

When questioned as to whether they are the young men in question, the Badminton team, themselves vigorously denied it. However, they did not deny that they have been making wholesale purchases of Blister Ointment.

The Very Rev. Francis X. Talbot, S.J., President of Loyola College, was reported to have instructed the athletic department to make inquiries towards the acquisition of a suitable badminton coach.

No Comment

Father Talbot's office was contacted and the only reply received as to whether or not the reports had any foundation was a brisk, "No comment."
